Subsea 7 Inc, through its i-Tech division, today announced the relocation of its office in Perth, Western Australia, to support its expanding ROV and remote intervention tooling businesses in the Asia-Pacific region. Following the establishment of a new workshop and storage facility in Malaga outside the city in 2007, i-Tech has now moved into larger premises in downtown Perth to accommodate its growing onshore engineering and business support teams. The new office, Level 4 of 553 Hay Street, is double the size of the previous office and will be i-Tech's new regional centre for Asia-Pacific operations.

i-Tech's Managing Director, Neil Milne, commented, "We see the Asia-Pacific region and Australia in particular as key growth markets over the coming years and this new office facility will ensure that we have the correct infrastructure to take advantage of the many opportunities we are pursuing. Furthermore, this expansion reinforces our commitment to the region and cements our position as Australasia's largest operator of ROV systems."
