

Would you, or your organisation, join an International ROV Association (IROVA)?

2010-07-07 06:42:34 by jamesmc

A new poll has been added to the site See the Poll block to the left of this announcement.

We are trying to gauge, from the greater ROV community, the level of interest behind the formation of an International ROV Association. Please take a second or two to vote as your response will be much appreciated.

For more information on this please use the Read More link below.....

Those behind the idea feel that the ROV industry as a whole is long overdue a body that looks after the specific interests of the ROV industry, employees, freelance and ROV operating companies alike, through an association run by ROV people for ROV people.

For the purpose of exploring further the development of an International ROV Association (IROVA) a domain name has been registered.

IROVA.org

Two email addresses are now active.

info@irova.org

For general IROVA inquiries of a non registration/membership nature.

register@irova.org

For registering your initial membership interest and making general registration/membership inquiries.

It's early days, but it's a move in the right direction.
More information will be made available things develop.

The IROVA Poll results can be found at: <http://www.rovworld.com/survey-results-29.html>

<http://www.rovworld.com/modules.php?name=News&file=article&sid=4444>